Dear Hiring Manager,

The Legal Assistant role at Essential Employment interests me because property transactions and conveyancing work sit at a point where legal precision and deadline management genuinely matter, and my background at BCLP gives me directly relevant practical experience.

During my Real Estate Disputes rotation at BCLP I worked across several landlord and tenant, leasehold and easement matters simultaneously. I prepared electronic hearing bundles, reviewed documents, assisted with skeleton arguments and maintained matter records using iManage, while tracking competing deadlines across the caseload. Managing a conveyancing file through each stage of a transaction requires the same close attention to process and sequencing, and I am familiar with the kind of documentary rigour that underpins property work.

I have also drafted legal documents independently under supervision. At BCLP I drafted procedural orders, amended substantive submissions and maintained organised case files across a complex international arbitration matter. At Citizens Advice I draft correspondence, prepare document schedules and manage matters from initial client contact through to submission, including work involving Housing Benefit and tenancy-related issues. Drafting Agreements, Deeds of Surrender and Transfers requires careful, accurate drafting of the kind I have practised in both settings.

Meeting fixed regulatory deadlines is something I have handled directly. At BCLP I was the only junior supporting the arbitration team shortly before a major submission deadline and coordinated documents across the team to ensure on-time delivery. Submitting SDLT returns and completing Land Registry applications within required timescales calls for the same kind of reliable deadline management, and I understand the consequences when property transactions slip.

I want to move into a role with a clear conveyancing focus because my BCLP real estate experience showed me that property transactions have a satisfying structure and precision to them, and I want to build on that in a setting where I am managing files directly rather than supporting from the background.

Yours sincerely,
Maria Silva
