Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to apply for the Regional Legal Director – UK role at Kyowa Kirin International in Marlow. I recognise this is a senior position, and I want to be transparent: I am an early-career lawyer with a strong disputes and regulatory foundation, applying in the event KKI is open to a junior legal hire alongside or in support of this search, or should a paralegal or legal analyst vacancy arise from it.

My background is grounded in complex dispute resolution, evidence analysis and regulatory work. At Bryan Cave Leighton Paisner I spent a year supporting international arbitration and real estate litigation — reviewing evidence for procedural submissions and memorials, drafting procedural orders and histories, preparing court bundles and skeleton argument materials, and managing competing deadlines across several matters simultaneously. I became the sole junior on an investment arbitration shortly before a major submission deadline and helped ensure it was filed on time, receiving feedback that my performance was comparable to a newly qualified solicitor.

Alongside that, I bring practical regulatory and client-facing experience. At Citizens Advice I advise clients across welfare, employment, housing and debt matters — taking detailed factual statements, identifying evidential and legal issues, drafting correspondence and preparing submissions, all to hard deadlines. At Q-Legal I managed a data-privacy matter end-to-end under solicitor supervision, translating UK GDPR obligations into commercially focused advice for a start-up. At Adobe I reviewed licensing and data-processing agreements and liaised across legal, sales and international business teams to reconcile commercial objectives with legal risk.

I understand that KKI's purpose — making a genuine difference for patients and their families — means legal work that is precise, commercially aware and always grounded in what actually matters to the people affected. That ethos aligns closely with the way I approach client-facing and regulatory work.

I would welcome any conversation about how my experience might be useful to the KKI legal function, whether in a paralegal, legal analyst or other support capacity. I am based in Berkshire and Marlow is a straightforward commute.

Thank you for your time.

Yours sincerely,
Maria Silva
