I am applying for the Conveyancing Paralegal role advertised through Reed, supporting the Residential Property team at your Henley-on-Thames practice.

During my year-long placement at Bryan Cave Leighton Paisner, six months of which were spent in the Real Estate Disputes team, I worked across a range of property-related matters including rights of light, easements, leasehold disputes and landlord and tenant issues. I prepared electronic hearing bundles, assisted with skeleton arguments, conducted legal and factual research, and managed large volumes of documentation across several concurrent matters under tight deadlines. That experience gave me a practical grounding in property law and the document-handling discipline that residential conveyancing demands.

More broadly, my background has been built around managing matters from instruction through to completion under supervision. At Citizens Advice East Berkshire, I currently run a caseload independently: taking detailed client statements, identifying evidential and procedural issues, drafting correspondence, preparing document schedules and meeting submission deadlines. I am used to communicating clearly with clients on sensitive matters and translating complex requirements into practical guidance — skills directly relevant to supporting clients through a residential transaction.

I am also comfortable with the administrative rigour conveyancing requires. At BCLP I maintained structured electronic case files using iManage, tracked procedural deadlines across multiple matters and coordinated with external parties and clients to keep matters progressing. I understand that accuracy and attention to detail in documentation are not incidental to property work — they are central to it.

I am drawn to this role because of your firm's reputation for high-quality private client and property work, and because the opportunity to develop a supervised caseload within a well-established team is exactly the environment in which I want to build my conveyancing practice.

I would welcome the opportunity to discuss the role further.
