I am applying for the Shift Supervisor position at EG On The Move's new Starbucks site in Lower Earley, Reading.

Alongside my legal work, I have developed strong practical skills in managing competing priorities under pressure, maintaining accurate records, and communicating clearly with a wide range of people — all of which translate directly into a supervisory role. At Citizens Advice, I manage a caseload of clients across multiple matter types simultaneously, meeting firm procedural deadlines while ensuring each person receives clear, reliable guidance. At BCLP, I was the sole junior coordinating a team's document management and deadline tracking in the lead-up to a significant arbitration submission — an experience that sharpened my ability to keep operations running smoothly when the pressure is highest.

I am comfortable taking responsibility, directing the work of others, and making sound judgements quickly. I understand that a Shift Supervisor role requires someone who can hold the store's standards — cash handling accuracy, safe opening and closing procedures, a welcoming environment for staff and customers — without close oversight. I approach that kind of responsibility the same way I approach case management: methodically, with close attention to detail and a consistent focus on getting things right for the people I am there to serve.

I am based locally in the Reading area and am available for part-time hours. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss the role further.

Yours sincerely,
Maria Silva
