Dear Hiring Manager,

I am applying for the paralegal role advertised through Adecco, based in SW1. The six-month contract suits my current position well: I am completing my LLM at Queen Mary and have practical legal experience that I can bring to the team from day one, without a long onboarding period.

My year at Bryan Cave Leighton Paisner is the most directly relevant part of my background. In the international arbitration team I was the only junior on a complex investment arbitration shortly before a significant procedural deadline. I coordinated documents, tracked outstanding actions, liaised with the client on required materials and managed correspondence with an external translator, all while maintaining structured electronic case files. The partner and associate I worked with told me my performance was comparable to a newly qualified solicitor. In the real estate disputes team I prepared electronic hearing bundles, assisted with skeleton arguments, conducted legal and factual research, handled court filings and managed large volumes of documents across several competing matters simultaneously. Both rotations required the kind of organised, deadline-aware approach that paralegal work in a busy London team depends on.

Since leaving BCLP I have worked as a legal adviser at Citizens Advice East Berkshire, where I manage matters from first interview through to submission. I take detailed factual statements, identify evidential gaps, draft correspondence, prepare document schedules and maintain confidential case records. Working with clients on sensitive welfare, housing and employment matters has also sharpened my ability to communicate clearly and to translate complex procedural rules into practical guidance, which is useful in any client-facing paralegal role.

The hybrid working pattern and the opportunity to contribute to high-profile work in a central London environment make this a practical and genuinely useful step while I complete my studies. I am available to start promptly and happy to discuss the role further.

Yours sincerely,

Maria Silva
