Dear Hiring Manager,

I am applying for the Residential Conveyancer role at G2 Legal's Berkshire firm because my background in real estate disputes at BCLP gave me direct exposure to property law in practice, and conveyancing is the next area I want to develop that grounding in.

During my six-month Real Estate Disputes rotation at BCLP, I worked across landlord and tenant disputes, rights of light, easements and leasehold matters. I prepared electronic hearing bundles, assisted with skeleton arguments, conducted legal and factual research on property issues, and maintained matter records in iManage across several concurrent files. Managing competing deadlines across those files meant I had to keep case records current and flag issues early, which is the same kind of file and deadline discipline that residential conveyancing requires. That rotation made property law the part of my placement I found most engaging, and it pointed me toward wanting to build more direct transactional experience in the area.

At Citizens Advice East Berkshire, where I have been advising since July 2026, I regularly deal with housing matters alongside employment, debt and welfare cases. I take detailed client statements, identify procedural and evidential issues, draft correspondence and manage files from initial instruction through to submission. Working with clients who are often under significant pressure in housing situations has sharpened my ability to communicate clearly, explain complex requirements in plain terms and keep matters moving under time pressure. The client-facing and file-management side of that work translates directly to what a residential conveyancer does day to day.

I want to move into a conveyancing role based around the Thames Valley because it is where I live and work, and because the volume and variety that a well-established residential practice offers is the right environment to build real transactional competence. The Woosehill location works well for me practically, and the firm's focus on Thames Valley clients means the caseload would reflect the local market I already know from my advice work.

I hold an LLB (2:1) from UCL and an LLM in Comparative and International Dispute Resolution from Queen Mary, currently completing. I am ready to contribute from the outset and to develop further within a residential conveyancing team.

Yours sincerely,
Maria Silva
