Dear Hiring Manager,

I am applying for the Paralegal role in the Residential Property team at Brandon James Ltd in Marlow because my background in property disputes and client-facing legal work gives me a practical foundation to support a conveyancing team from day one.

During my year at BCLP I spent six months in the Real Estate Disputes team, where I worked on landlord and tenant disputes, rights of light, easements and leasehold matters. My work included reviewing documents, preparing electronic hearing bundles, assisting with skeleton arguments and maintaining matter records on iManage across several files running concurrently. That experience gave me a working knowledge of how residential and commercial property disputes arise and what careful file management looks like in practice. The discipline of tracking deadlines across multiple matters simultaneously is directly relevant to managing a caseload of residential property transactions.

At Citizens Advice East Berkshire I have been advising clients on housing matters alongside welfare benefits and employment issues. I take detailed factual statements, identify evidential and procedural issues, draft correspondence and prepare document schedules, managing each matter from instruction through to submission. A significant proportion of the clients I see are dealing with housing problems under real financial pressure, so communicating clearly and keeping clients informed at every stage is something I treat as part of the job rather than an add-on. That practical experience of client communication across a varied caseload translates well to supporting first-time buyers and property investors who need straightforward guidance at each stage of a transaction.

Marlow is straightforward for me to reach from Maidenhead, and a firm with an established residential property practice is where I want to develop specialised conveyancing experience. My goal is to build genuine transactional expertise, and a team working across the full range of residential property instructions is the right environment to do that.

I would welcome the opportunity to discuss the role further.

Yours sincerely,
Maria Silva
